

Formative and Fabulous! Using Formative Data to Drive Instruction – How do you get it? And what do you do with it?

Within a workshop framework, we'll explore a variety of tools and resources available to gather formative data seamlessly. We'll look at how to use this data to create mini-lessons, strategy groups, and conferring sessions to move your learners forward. Literacy Coach, Caitlin Etten, will share her classroom experiences and reflections on their journey to support students as they become independent learners.
